

WEB DEVELOPMENT SERVICES

Web development is the act of building, creating, and maintaining websites. The field encompasses a broad range of tasks including everything from coding to technical design, to the performance of a website or application running on the internet. Web development consists of front-end and back-end components:

- Front-end development consists of the user interface (UI) and the look and feel of the website or application.
- Back-end development consists of the databases, logic, APIs, servers, and everything else that powers the website behind the scenes.

What Does a Web Developer Do?

Web developers create and maintain websites and web applications, connecting them to servers and ensuring accessibility. They use programming languages like HTML, CSS, and JavaScript to build the front-end interface and the back-end infrastructure, which includes databases and servers. Web developers work in teams, collaborating with other tech professionals to ensure smooth functionality and user experience. They are also responsible for ongoing maintenance to keep sites running smoothly.

Project Scope:

The project encompasses the end-to-end creation of a website, including but not limited to:

1. Custom design that is responsive and user-friendly across all devices.
2. Development using React JS for a dynamic and interactive user experience.
3. Implementation of features such as a homepage slider, news section, academic program listings, staff directory, and contact form.
4. SEO optimization and analytics integration.
5. Hosting on an Indian server and domain registration.
6. Compliance with web accessibility and security best practices.
